THE MORRISTOWN GAZETT

MORRISTOWN, TENN., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1883.

VOL. XVII.--NO. 40.

MOBRISTOWN, TENN

The language used by some of our competitors is simply terrific. MURDER in the First degree would be a mild offence compared with the crimes they propose to inflict on their defenseless stock of Clothing, which is certainly not to blame for Lingering around until it gets very Elderly. Many goods offered to the public in this Frantic manner may have been lying in some dark place for years, the unsalable property of the present owner or his Grandfather. Such clothes are but the GHOSTS of fashion long since departed. They have a gloomy and unattractive appearance about them which is enough to chill a nervous buyer to the bones, and make him think of the castle scene in "Shiel Agar." Those who wish to buy CLOTHES FOR THE PRESENT GENERATION will most undoubtedly go to Geo. C. Williams, who is, as most everybody knows, Headquarters for superior Clothing and Honest Prices.

GEO. C. WILLIAMS, The Clothier.

Open until 9 p. m. Drop in and see.

New Advertisements.

New Advertisements

T. J. SPECK & SON.,

DENTISTS

East Tennessee Surgical Institute

At Knoxville, Tenn.,

75 Yards from Depot, Opposite Atkin House,

Depot Street.

(Street Cars Fassing every 20 Minutes.)

PROPRIETORS:

J. W. HILL, M. D., President; S. G. BOWMAN, Secretary, M. D. M. M. ALEXANDES, M. D., Treasures

This is a Private Hospital, with Hotel privileges, for the treatment of Female Troubles and all Surgical Diseases of both Series. For references or particulars, address the Secretary.

HATTIE HOUSE.

It is Localed in the Exact Busines

Center of

Knoxville, Tennessee,

One Square from the Post Office, Custom House, Banks, and in the immediate vicinity of all the Principal Wholesule and Retail Stores.

NEW THROUGHOUT. urniture, etc., Exectric Annunciator, Gas,

Wide Halls, and the Ventilation is No. 1 and No Mistake.

THE TABLES SUPPLIED THE

Choice Sample Rooms for Commercial Travel ers—on first floor if desired.

By Special rates to Merchants and Commercia

Tweeter always at the train. Committee free.

J. C. FLANDERS.

S. G. BOWMAN, M. D.

OFFICES:

THE FIRE FIEND!!

The Strong are Able to Protect !!

REPRESENT NEARLY TWENTY FOUR MIL-

The Continental of N. Y.,— Assets over - $4,500,000 The Traders' of Chicago,-1,082,000 The North America of Phila ... Assets 8,956,000 The Etna of Hartford-

Assets over - - 9,000,000 Cannor be had. Por these general I solicit your business. J. C. HODGES.

MANUFACTURER OF

Spokes, Handles and Dimension Stuff in Walnut. MORRISTO WN, TENN.

HOPE & BRO.

orders by mail will receive prompt aften-

JEWELERS,

Cor. Gay & Church Sts., KNOXVILLE, - TENN. Keep in stock a fullline of Watches & Jewelry

Solid Silver, Silver-Plated Ware,

Superior Table Cutlery, &c.

EF Repiring and Engraving skillfully executed upon rea coable terms. All orders by mail wil re-H. W. CURTIS,

Large stock and low prices,

SMITH'S OLD STAND,

KNOXVILLE, : : : TENN. D. W. C. DAVIS.

Watchmaker and Jeweler.

Emps constantly on hand a new and Silverware, Jewelry Watches, Clocks, &c.

guaranteed.

Main Street, Morristown, Tenn. Special attention given to repairing of all kinds, and satisfaction

Subscription Price, $1 50, Invariably in advance, otherwise $2. years after his marriage, he did not

Entered at the rost Office at Morristown, Ten assecond class matter.]

Green peas are offered for sale in little Lady Emeline. the Gainesville, Fla., market. there was a man around.

Texas farmers sold last year $59, wool and mutton, and $1,000,000 worth of horses and hides.

Strawberries are in the Savannah narkote Although very darly in he season, the fruit is grown in Snow is seven or eight feet deep in love with him during that first character might go for nothing.

When our hero first discove sheepmen of that section are well He was attached to the Naval De-

Terms Cash, or its Equivalent. D. A. NEILSON, M. D., Office over W. P. Carrigor's Drug Store, where tear the newsdealer to pieces until fession, but said:

he passed over the penny change. is all your own now." I fastened to the crib by lashing with | not eat me." ropes so that they were held se-curely in place. The prisoner, with when the lieutenant had brought the rope on his neck, the other end down a packet from the naval office,

A Favor of Fortune.

A Reminiscence of England's Sallor one mad.

Well, sir! D'you hear me? Thomas, and of the result.

"Why don't-you move? What you waiting here for? I don't think you've get any more to say?" blustered the irate admiral, while the extraordinary rush of blood to the lead gave to his rough and puffy a Sir Thomas Strout, a rough, robust old British sailor, who flourished during the latter part of the last, and the beginning of the present centuries. Originally the place had been called an Abboy; the admiral had given it its present name in honor of the old Jason frigate, on board which he had served as post-captain when it was the flag-ship of England's sailor-king, William. It was the flag-ship of England's sailor-king, William. To be a served as post-captain when it was the flag-ship of England's sailor-king, William. To buse that would been called an Abboy; the admiral that given it its present name in honor of the old Jason frigate, on board which he had served as post-captain when it was the flag-ship of England's sailor-king, William. To be admiral, and Duke of Clarence.

In 1832, the time of which we write, Sir Thomas, grown old and battered in the service, had been on the broad piazza George met the Lady Emeline. When she saw him ascend to the piazza; saw Emeline start quickly to his face she caught him eagerly by her feet with an exclamation of sur-battered in the service, had been honorably retired upon full pay. He was never so happy as when he could induce old shipmates to share his hospitality.

Admirals of the Red, the White, or the Blue were all gladly entertained by Sir Thomas. Post-captains were always welcome; and even a commander, if his war record was good, might find favor in sight. But lower than that he did not like to go. In fact he was a aristocrat of the first water—the very saltest of the salt; and he would sooner have admitted to social equality the boatswains than admitted a social equality the boatswains than admitted a social equality to the salt and he would social equality the boatswains than admitted a social equality the social equality to the salt and he would social equality the boatswains than admitted a social equality to the salt and he would social equality the boatswains than admitted a social equality to the salt and he would social equality the boatswains than admitted a social equality the salt and he would social equality the salt and he would social equality the boatswains than admitted a social equality the salt and he would social equality the boatswains than admitted a social equality the salt and he would social equality the boatswains than admitted a salt what had happened. He told her as nearly as he thought proper.

"O, George! dear heart! I feared the time that you have social equality the time that you have shall we do? alas! What?"

"Never surrender, my own dear promised one. Let us consider. We will take time. I have friends the first water—the very saltest of the salt; and he would social equality the salt and he would social equality the salt and he would social equality the salt and he was a salt and he will a revers the told her as nearly as he thought had happened her hands with ity the boatswains than admitted a ness, his confidence in right and lieutenant of the new.

eave behind him the wherewith to earnest sympathy. pay his debts, the result being that Lady Irene, the admiral's daughter, of a coroner's jury in Idaho: "We make it levely and levable. And the manor from the Highlands of quickly forward to his relief. find that the deceased came to his she had a lover—a young lieutenant death by calling Tom Watkins a Ayling. He had come first to Ja

The find that the deceased came to his she had a lover—a young lieutenant of the royal navy—named George antiers were of enormous size, and his hand, "let us forget the past."

Ayling. He had come first to Ja
The find that the deceased came to his she had a lover—a young lieutenant of the royal navy—named George antiers were of enormous size, and his hand, "let us forget the past."

But don't forget me!" cried the worth of cattle, $7,000,000 worth of Board of Admiralty. On that occa. nary sphere. sion he had had to remain all night, Emeline to entertain him. He was a brave, loyal, true-hearted man; twenty-six years of age; tall and provided with hay and sheds, so partment at Whitehall, being on the that no serious loss is anticipated, staff of one of the Lords Commis-even if we do have a severe winter. sioners. His father was only a mer-Eight months ago a Maine man lost a ring from his finger while feeding the pigs. One of the young porkers was killed for Thanksgiving, and upon its tongue, about two lifelong friend, and devoted helper,

Owing to the scarcity of satisfac But when he spoke of speaking tory trees, lamp posts, etc., a mob of with her grandfather she trembled. Inchers near Albaquerque, N. M., She knew the old admiral's whims ook their prisoner to a flat-car and and inconsistencies, and she feared proceeded to erect a rather unique he would oppose their union. scaffold. A crib of ties was built up bigh on the flat-car, and two ties George, laughingly. Faint heart were run straight out from the crib, never won fair lady. I shall beard the inside ends of the two ties being the tiger in his den. Surely he can-hem them over. The good lady, whose dinner had perhaps disagreed with her, brusquely refused. The same result followed an application to the wife's sister and to the eldest with his granddaughter—the daughto the wife sister and to the eldest daughter. But before bed-time the wife relenting, took the pants, and cutting off six inches from the legs, hemmed them up nicely and restored them to the close; and the close was this.

"Gas, hemmed them up nicely and restored them to the close. Half an hour after her daughter taken with compunction for her unfilial conduct, took the tronsers, and cutting off six inches hemmed and replaced them. Finally, the sister-in-law felt the pangs of conscience, and the close was the cit was a big oath!—If sha should do such a-thing as listen to your tale of love, I would—would—Liden! Know what I would do, but, if she should marry with you, I'd cast her when the close remed an additional surface and what are you doing here?"

The work of the mistant! Now, go! I sha do in the close and the close as the condition on the garment. When the clot or performed an additional surface and what is should marry with you, I'd cast her when the close remed an additional surface.

The young and gentlemanly lieu
The young and gentlemanly lieu
The young and gentlemanly lieu him accordingly.

"I am George Ayling, sir, a lieuthe taken wine a feet out of live, and the close was this.

"Are you the son of Arthur Ayling, the London wine merchant?"

"I am, sir, - his only son."

"A wag seeing a door nearly off its hings, in which condition it had been some time, observed that when it had fallen and killed some one it would probably be hung.

A middle aged spinster, at a recent woman's Rights Convention, said she did not care about female sufficient the proposals of marriage.

When the close; and the close was this door wine merchant?"

"I am, sir, - his only son."

"A wag seeing a door nearly off its hings, in which condition it had been some time, observed that when it had fallen and killed some one it would probably be hung.

A middle aged spinster, at a recent when the close was the sufficient and the close was the sufficient and the close was the sufficient and the close was the sufficient and

IV., then admiral, and Duke of thought scurrilous, even in New- you come up." And without fur-justice, and his masterful manner of proud father was wont to declare. The stage-coach from Shoreham to astonishment. was the handsomest and the best Chichester would pass shortly, and "What! Sire! If my old eyes do and the most intelligent girl in the his nearest way from the Hall not deceive me, this is a proud and kingdom. She, rather late in life - to the highway was through the happy moment." her father having kept the general great park. He had struck into the "Hold on, Tom. I am not to be came home to her father, bringing Hall, had been attacked by a sav- gether?" with her an infant daughter—the age stag that had broken loose from son Hall, baving been sent with a caught thereon might calculate upmessage to the old admiral by the on a speedy exit from this sublu-

The individual attacked was cerand Sir Thomas had detailed Lady tainly more than three-score-perhaps nearer to three-score and ten -habited in a sort of undress, freeand-easy naval uniform; naturally, the season, the fruit is grown in open ground just cast of the city and so genial and so pure-minded that his beautiful young hostess fell cessively frightened that marks of one would judge, a pleasant-faced When our hero first discovered him he had dodged behind a large oak tree, while the stag stood ready for a charge on the opposite side. Ayling saw in an instant that deed, I could refuse thus to extend when the stag should make another the hand of friendship. Welcome! onset it would be next to impossible welcome to the pair of you!" And for his victim to escape; and if the then, having taken breath, he deinfuriate beast once reached him, manded: what could save him? The brave "Sire, pray tell me, How in the and one-half inches from the tip, of the present king; and he never was the missing jewelry. It had been sucked up from the trough.

There is a man in Sixth avenue. The only favor balf of his son.

There is a man in Sixth avenue. The only favor balf of his son. There is a man in Sixth avenue.

New York, whose dog bas gone for his morning paper every morning for years. The man always gave the log a three-cent visco to the court of the could throw the animal from his feet. At all events he would not see a defenceless old man killed be-log to the court of the cou he leaped forward. ing antlers, at the same time strikward, and drawing it towards him, while he struck his foot with a solid kick against the leg nearest to him. The effort was successful. He brought the stag down upon his side, driving his nose into the grav- away: el, and pressing his knees upon the neck and shoulder. Then he shout-the fall proving of sufficient height told of his leve for the beautiful to break his neck.

"Run for the gate, and I will follow," was his command; and the man had sense enough to obey; and And then the two old shipmates AN EDITOR'S TROUSERS.

What a shock was that for the British admiral At first be could not credit the evidence of his senses.

What a shock was that for the British admiral At first be could not credit the evidence of his senses. when he had almost reached it, the were left to themselves to revel in lieutenant sprang to his feet, and the scenes, and to fight over again

Ayling was well satisfied that the old gentleman was nothing less than a retired admiral, and he respected him accordingly.

tenant was thunderstruck-utterly modest manner, he told the whole astounded. He gazed upon the foaming old tiger as he might have gazed upon a South-Sea Islander him, of his late interview with Sir Thomas, and of the result.

Arrived at the sanctum-or the "Growlery," as it was more com-The only near relative which the old admiral had was a granddaugh ter, whom he came very near wor. shiping. He was extreme in almonly called-they found Sir most everything. His wife had The lieutenant, since his inter- truder, and was upon his feet in an died when quite young, leaving only view with Sir Thomas, had resolv- instant, his pipe dropped and brokone child, a beautiful girl, who, the ed to return at once to London. en, and his red face the picture of W run of lovers at a distance-became | well-beaten path, and had gained, | welcomed unless you can also welthe wife of an earl, but the earl was perhaps, half the distance, when he come one of the best and the dear-so poor that, when he died, only five was brought to a sudden stop by a est friends I have in the world. was brought to a sudden stop by a est friends I have in the world. scene that commanded at once his And here he is: Lieutenant Ayling. I propose to make him a post-cap- 1874, An elderly gentleman, who had tain as soon as possible. Say, old evidently been on his way to the shipmate, shall we be welcome to-

Ayling, as might be supposed, the deer-park. Ayling well knew when he thus discovered that it was At the time of the opening of our the nature and disposition of this his king whom he had rescued from 1877, 1,000 An Alabama young lady, caught story Sir Thomas's daughter had animal, as he had once had a bout mortal peril, was deeply and powersmoking a cigar, gave it as her rea- been dead several years, and the with him on his own account. He fully affected, but his senses did not son that "it made it smell as though Lady Emeline had grown to a beau- was one of the largest of his class; leave him. He saw the pitiable situtiful maiden of nineteen, with a literally, "A Monarch of the Glen," ation of Sir Thomas, and, in the This was the very concise verdict character that lacked nothing to which had been sent to the lord of goodness of his heart, he moved "Sir Thomas," he said, extending "But don't forget me!" eried the king, jokingly. "No danger of that," responded Ayling heartily, and with deep, true feeling. "When a British seaman forgets England's gallantsailor king, we may look for chaos come again!" "Right! You are right my truehearted boy!" exclaimed the old admiral, plainly by way of setting himself right with his sovereign; and he grasped the youth's outstretched hand as he added: "That sentiment does you credit, my boy: and since his majosty—God bless and keep him!-ayouches for you, I should be traitor and renegade in-dog a three-cent, piece to buy the paper. When the price came down to two cents the deg threatened to and then with a bound and a yell your majestic old oaks. But it came near to being a dear walk to me. If Exactly how he did it he could it had not been for our brave and never tell. He caught the branch- gallant boy here-son of one of the very best friends Heaven ever gave ing with heavy force against the to me-you might never have seen stag's shoulder; then with all his William the Fourth of England strength, twisting the head back- alive again. But I'll tell you about Shortly after this the two young people were sent away to look after it over a pipe and a glass, the work of the gardener, the king hailing our hero as he was turning "By the way, Lieutenant-I don't like that title. We must make i of which was fastened to the pro-jecting ties, was made to mount the gallows, when he was pushed off, Captain. You have lost the staget over night, if Sir Thomas can find a- HARVEY LOOP.

dered a pair of trousers from the tailor. On trying them on they proved to be several inches too long. It being late on Saturday night, the tailor's shop was closed, and the editor took the trousers to his wife and asked her to cut them off and hem them over. The good lady, London merchant! A mere recommendate the possible that he had beard aright. And the ardent had beard aright over again the battles, of the times agone.

We will only add, before the young Lieutenant left the Hall he was permitted to hold the Lady Emeline by the hand under the favor of a blessed fortune, for the old admiral had smiled upon their love, and given his consent to their love, and given his consent to their love, and given his consent to their love.

Some ungenerous biped has a pat-ent medicine to make a man rise early in the morning. A young Ben-

New Advertisements.

BARTON.

FOR THE FALLIAND WINTER SEASON, Dress Goods, Fancy Goods, Choice Hosiery,

MY DRESS MAKING DEPARTMENT

NO STOCK in the City is HANDSOME or Cheaper than Mine,

ALVIN BARTON,

J. J. WILLIAMS & CO.,

Commission Merchants in Grain and Provisions, Nos. 17 and 19 Kennesaw Block, Forsyth Street, ATLANTA, . . . GEORGIA.

WE ARE NOW PREPARING FOR THE

PORK PACKING SEASON,

And when weather suitable, hope to be in full blast. Mr. James Brooks, formerly with H. T. Cox & Co., Carlton & Smith, is in our employ. Being conversant with the Tennessee produce trade makes the sale of same a specialty, such as Butter, Eggs Chickens and all perishable articles.

Office of Oliver Chilled Plow Works, South Bend, Ind., Dec. 21, 1882. WOODRUFF & CO., Knoxville, Tenn.,

Gentlemen: Following are your slaes of Oliver Plows in the territory assigned you for the past ten years:

1873, 542 Plows. 1878, 1088 Plows. 1879, 1369 1880, 1440 1875. 1881, 2748 1876. 901 1882, 3044

SOUTH BEND IRON WORKS.

P. S.—The rem E kable increase of the OLIVER is an evidence of its superiority over all others. In the present prosperous state of the country we expect a larger rate of increase for the year 1883 than ever before. They are cheap, durable and unequaled in quality. Evrye Farmer should try them. W. W. WOODRUFF & O., General Agents.

Lookout Bank

MORRISTOWN, TENNESSEE.

[STATE DEPOSITORY-]

PAID UP CAPITAL STOCK $50,000.

JAS. G. ROSE, President. JOHN MURPHEY, Cashier. BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

STOCKHOLDERS. G Rose, John Murphey, J. L. Howell, W. A. Howell, W. E. Howell, B. F. Stubblefield, J. E. Skean, J. O. Rice, E. B. Hale, Hamblen County; P. G. Fulkerson, Claiborne County; G. T. Magee, Monroe County; Jehn Stokely, Cocke County; T. R. Read, W. B. Tate, Grainger County

Will Transact a General Bunking Business. Receive deposits, buy and sell exchange old and silver, and make collections upon the most favorable terms.

W. VAN HUSS & BRO.,

Goods, Boots, SHOES, HATS, CLOTHING, & NOTIONS,

Groceries, Hardware, Crockery, Tinware, Lumber and Building Material. We are sole agents for the Georgia Cement and can supply m er chants at wholesale prices. Proprietors of Saw Mill and Brick Yard. We have on band and for sale the CELEBRATED MITCHELL WAGON, made at Racina, Wisconsin. Also Agents for the C. G. Cooper Engines, Saw Mills, Threshing Machine Mills, &c. Call on or address us at MORRISTOWN, TENN. makily

New Sash, Door and Blind Factory in Morristown

H. LOOP & SON,

Also Matched Flooring, Ceiling, Weather-boarding, Brackets, Newells, Etc., Wood Turning of Every Discription.

Orders Filled and Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Morristown Boot and Shoe Factory

J. A. TOWNSEND, PRO.

OF ALL GRADES AND KINDS.

REPAIRING NEATLY DONE ON SHORT NOTICE.

MORRISTOWN, TENN.